Street Commissioner Lawrence Weidner, when asked by a representative of THE CITIZEN, what would be the best solution of the ice problem in the Lackawanna River, said:

"I had an idea another year to take off the high part of the dam, and let the water run out, so that there would only just be a brook running. Then there wouldn't be much ice. In case the water and the ice did come, it would run right over the top. Of course the sewers might be out, and freeze up. That's my idea of it. They'd save a lot of ice from being in there."

On Saturday evening last, a jolly crowd of pleasure seekers congregated in the vicinity of Union Hill where they were met by genial "Larry Weidner" with a large wagon covered with straw upon which the merry makers quickly seated themselves and after a journey of about four miles found themselves at the social home of Nick Sonn, near Bethany, where they certainly enjoyed themselves by dancing and indulging in other social pleasures and were surely royally entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Sonn. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. L. Weidner, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Maner, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoff, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Segner, Mr. and Mrs. George Poppenheimer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Markey, Mame Robinson, Sadie Bridenbaker, Hannah Mathews, Cora Listonator, Berntha Weidenbein, Elizabeth Maur, Rose Seelig, Chas. Fisher, John Switzer, William Gmper, Frank Adams, Robert Maur, Granville Parsons, and Arthur La Valley. They were joined at their journey's end by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clemo, William Horn, Amos Ward, Dorothy Clemo, Lettie Arnold and Alice Ward. Refreshments were served at 11 o'clock. So delightful and social was the event that it was not until the wee hours that the crowd bade good night to their entertainers.

Great Sachem William H. Long, Hanover, Pa., Great Sachem of Improved Order of Red Men of Pennsylvania, visited Oslek Tribe, No. 318, Thursday night, Feb. 2, and gave an interesting talk on Redman ship. He conferred the Past Sachem's Degree on seventeen past sachems of Oslek Tribe and three from High Sun Tribe, No. 326, Hawley. He also exemplified the unwritten work to the members present. After the close of business the members went in a body to A. R. Taubner's restaurant where a banquet was held in honor of the Great Sachem, Hon. John Kubbach acting as toastmaster. Music was furnished by Katz and Freeman. The Red Men are one of the leading orders of Honesdale. They expect to capture fifty palefaces to adopt before the first of April to help the general boom that is on all over the state.

By the handsome total of 1,732-474 votes Miss Helen Lehman, the popular daughter of mine host Christian Lehman, proprietor of the Park View Hotel, won the free trip to Bermuda offered by THE CITIZEN and has chosen as her companion her sister, Miss Lena. The county had been divided into four districts and one person from each district will make the trip, the one receiving the highest number of votes to be privileged to name her companion, so that there will be five in the company that goes from Wayne. The winners are: District No. 1, Miss Helene Purdy; No. 2, Miss Helen Lehman; No. 3, Miss Mary Glichrist; No. 4, Miss Ella Ehrhardt. (The Hawley Times).

A double runaway Saturday afternoon about four o'clock disturbed the otherwise peaceful and aristocratic residents of Irving Boulevard, and aroused the reporters in Park Row from their daily "siestas." The excitement began at the Fair Grounds, when a bay horse belonging to L. Theobald started on a dead run for his master's barn. When the central city was reached the box wagon to which he was hatched was minus both right wheels. In front of the freight station, a horse belonging to George Blake, and attached to a coal wagon, took fright at the unaccustomed sight, and joined in the mad dash down Park Row. Mr. Blake made a grab for him, but he couldn't catch him. The Main street was crowded with vehicles, and one fellow became so excited over the danger of a possible collision that he drove his team up on the sidewalk to get out of the way. He didn't want to take any chances.

In the meantime the mad gallop of Dobbin and Brother continued. Theobald's horse, headed for the barn, as he always does, when he gets away. Blake's horse went through by Smith's and left the box and hind wheels at the alley entrance. He ran down the Erie tracks, and was caught by an Italian in the coal pockets. Mr. Theobald was badly bruised about the head and shoulders, and Mr. Blake was cut about the left ear. When the excitement subsided, the "hot dog man" resumed the crying of his wares, and the "Colonel" resumed his after-dinner "Havana."

The installation services of Captain James Ham Post, No. 198, were held at the Post Headquarters on Friday evening, February 3, in the presence of a large assemblage. The following officers were duly installed: Henry Wilson, Commander; Stuart O. Lincoln, Junior Vice Commander; P. R. Collum, Chaplain; Graham Watts, Quarter Master; W. W. Wood, Officer of the Day; Michael Webber, Officer of the Guard; Henry Parrish, Outside Guard. Past Commander Graham Watts officiated as installing officer, and did his work well. The Ladies' Circle of the Post were then installed. Mrs. C. E. Baker, Waymart, being the installing officer. The following officers were inducted into office: President, Mrs. William Clark; Senior Vice-President, Mrs. William H. Varcoe; Junior Vice Commander, Mrs. Clarence Bond; Treasurer, Mrs. D. B. Mantle; secretary, Miss Jennie W. Ball; Chaplain, Miss Mary Thorpe; Conductor, Miss Nellie Cook; Assistant Conductor, Mrs. Wm. MacArthur; Guard, Mrs. George Kimble; Assistant Guard, Mrs. William Kensingler. The ceremonies attending the installation of the Circle were very gracefully performed.

Rev. Father Balta was called on for an address. He responded with a mastery and scholarly speech, in which the past, present, and future of our country was portrayed in words that stirred the audience to applause as they listened to the patriotic sentiments of the speaker.

He was followed by Chester Garrett, Esq., the latest acquisition to the Honesdale bar. Mr. Garrett is an easy, fluent, and graceful speaker, and he held the interests of his audience, as he dwelt upon the results of the Civil war, and the blessings that victory to the Union cause had brought to the present generation, and how the present progress in civilization was due to the abolition of slavery, and how our position as a world power was owing greatly to the men who won the victory in the early sixties.

Homor Greene, Esq., who is always in when the G. A. R. calls, and answers every bugle call promptly, was present, and when called upon delivered one of his inimitable talks that covered some of the instances of the late unpleasantness so nicely that the audience laughed, felt sad, and were stirred to their innermost soul, as he depicted the many phases of that great struggle. His sallies of wit, about the living, mingled with his pathos as he spoke of the missing, were greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. J. B. Evans, Carbondale, was present, and by her vigorous, whole-souled singing, kept everybody in humor. The old fellows were stirred so that they knocked off at least ten years of their lives, and joined heartily in the choruses. It was a treat to hear the old boys get the "Cobwebs out of their throats" and sing "Marching through Georgia," "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," and other old familiar songs. Mrs. Evans rendered "Johnny Schmoker" in a style that brought down the house.

After the mental feast, all hands repaired to the banquet room, where the ladies had prepared a magnificent spread, which judging by the amount of time everybody spent at the table was greatly appreciated. Commander Henry Wilson, as usual, was the ring leader in all the proceedings, and his dry wit, (there was nothing of a wet nature about the humorous sallies, as he introduced the speakers and filled in the gaps, keeping everybody happy until the small hours, when the meeting dispersed.

Michael J. Hanlan, who never misses an old vet's meeting, came in late, and was captured, and not paroled until he said something, although he struggled hard to escape. The old vets don't forget that Mike is the man who without fee or reward puts the seal on their pension papers which brings the money from Uncle Sam every quarter, and consequently he always has to stand up in meeting and speak his piece.

Captain Madden, who is also County Commissioner, was caught hiding behind his comrades Webber and Phil Reining, and was ordered by Commander Wilson to stand up and give an account of himself, which he did, briefly, but well.

The Honesdale National Bank will be closed Monday, February 13, Lincoln's birthday.

The remains were taken to St. John's cemetery for interment. The pallbearers were: Thomas Shanley, Philip Ryan, Benjamin Loris, Jr., Chris Lowe, Michael Murray and Paul E. McGrannaghan.

Treasurer Genung reported a balance on hand January 1, of $358.39; receipts during the month, $2,371.83; total, $2,730.22; expenditures for January, $595.06; leaving a balance on hand February 1, of $2,135.16.

Mr. Ham reported that the scrip committee had secured Mrs. W. J. Van Keuren to search the records of the council and tabulate the amounts of "scrip" issued Honesdale property owners during the past half century. On motion of Mr. Penwarden it was decided to ask the Electric Light company to place an arc light in the center of the park, two incandescent lights on East Extension street, and two arc lights on Erie street.

It was agreed that in the near future the council meet in joint session with the Texas township supervisors, John Ordnung, Samuel Brown, Lawrence Weidner and take up the matter of connecting the Dybberry state road with the borough of Honesdale.

According to Secretary Kimble, it cost just $587.85 to run the burg in January, and orders were drawn to pay the bills, the largest charge being that for thirty-nine arc lights, amounting to $267.89. The election of Richard Brown as fire chief was announced.

C. M. Harris, manager of the Globe Store, returned Friday from a business trip to the metropolis.

Judge Alonzo T. Searle, who has just returned from a trip to Harrisburg and Washington, D. C., denied he was an aspirant for the judicial position made vacant by the appointment of Judge R. W. Archbald to the Commerce Court recently created, according to a special from Honesdale in last Friday's issue of The Scranton Truth. In speaking of the object of his visit to the state and national capitals, Judge Searle said:

"I headed and signed a petition for the Wayne County Bar association favoring the appointment of Judge H. A. Knapp and sent a personal letter to President Taft endorsing him. I have made no application for the position made vacant by Judge Archbald."

"All the influence I have or may have has been and shall be directed towards helping Judge Knapp secure the position. I am a candidate for no office except to succeed myself."

Dr. O'Hagan, the poet-editor of the Chicago New World, thus relieves his mind: "Over in Ohio last week Miss Merry married a Mr. Laffin and she has been Laffin ever since." Dr. O'Hagan being a crusty old bachelor has no right to trifle with such serious subjects.

In taking a religious census, why is it necessary to state whether you have ever been a member of the Y. M. C. A.?

S. Amos Ward, Bethany, health officer of district Number 311, comprising Dybberry, Oregon and Lebanon townships, reports that there hasn't been a single case of any contagious disease in his bailiwick in January.

Mr. Burcher started Friday to fill Jake Moore's ice house at Cajaw Pond. Mr. Burcher will supply his Honesdale patrons with ice from this source next summer, instead of from Lake Lodore, as heretofore. The ice is ten inches thick. The storehouse will hold 16,000 tons of the congealed water. Lawrence Weidner has charge of a gang of fifteen men who are cutting and putting away the frozen chunks.

D. M. Foster, Boston, Mass., was a Monday business caller in Honesdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Filtz, Whites Valley, spent Monday in Honesdale.

Lucy Murray, Delaware Avenue, employed at the Florence Silk mill, a deaf mute, had her hair caught in the cog wheels of her machine, Monday. The machine started to wind up and pulled the front part of her hair off. With rare presence of mind, she stopped the machine herself. The crowd of employees hustled downstairs and notified the engineer, and he stopped the machinery. Dr. W. T. McConville was hurriedly summoned, and dressed the wounds. She is resting comfortably at her home.

Frank Mills, Delaware street, is recovering from his recent injuries.

John A. Kimble, manager of the Wayne Cut Glass Co., Towanda, was in town on business Monday.

—Many sleighs were out to-day.

The Myers New Way

TUBULAR GIRDER TRACK
TANDEM ADJUSTABLE DOOR HANGER

PATENTED

The New-Way Hanger is adjustable to and from the building, and also to raise and lower the door; has flexible engine truck. All of the above features are very important, as they enable the user to adjust the door to suit every required condition. The lateral adjustment to and from the building permits using any thickness of door and allows it to be fit close to the building so as to prevent snow or rain from blowing in. The perpendicular adjustment permits the door being raised or lowered as required. These features are all patented and controlled by us.

THE NEW-WAY TRACK:

We call special attention to the two flanges shown on the underside of the track. These flanges form a girder or truss, which is a part of the track itself and stiffens the track, increasing its strength and carrying capacity. The flanges or girders above referred to are patented and cannot be used by any other manufacturer.
